FREE MANA

You can restore Mana once per wave plus once per rank when you click "Restore Mana".
Use the "Restore Mana" option at the bottom of the screen to restore Mana. Please be sure to do this unless you are absolutely positive you will be able to restore it at the start of the wave, as you cannot restore mana between waves.

If you decide to restore your mana, you do not need to use all of your mana at one time. Keep in mind that it will cost a certain amount of mana per rank of mana restored (refer to above picture).

DEATH STATE

When receiving a critical hit, you automatically enter into the Death State (approximately 1 minute). In the Death State, you cannot move except for flying, and you cannot use skills during battle except for the skill that caused the Death State.

The Death State allows you to release your accumulated mana as a special skill or activate the "Death State Begin" skill to immediately return to the battle field.

I won't ruin tomorrow's massive batch of Gamescom news for you, but I will point out this one little bit of news. While we talk endlessly about the inclusion of loot drops in loot boxes, Blizzard is looking to let you actually not collect them via a new, welcome to the world of Overwatch, New Game Settings option. At first blush, it might sound suspiciously like a Pandora's box of cheating, but there's a point to it. Parallel Esports League Your first game is a modified version of the MOBA game League of Legends, a 5v5 game centered around picking and spamming abilities like call it cool synergistic steroid games. All that other stuff? Eh, it'll wait.

VOLRussia says its military is “fully prepared” for its conflict with Ukraine - the most serious direct clash between the two countries in modern times. The message came as Russian Defence Minister Sergei Shoigu gave a lengthy interview to AFP about the wider war in Eastern Ukraine, laid out seven reasons why it is “on the brink of a terrible catastrophe”, and said Moscow would be able to defeat the Kiev regime with just three Divisions of the army. “From a military point of view all our forces are fully prepared,” Shoigu said. “They are fully ready for a conflict in case of a need.” The Defence Minister claimed Moscow had committed itself to help “restore peace”. “We are ready to send more military and technical personnel, of course if we are asked.” The interview - in which Shoigu also said Moscow would seek to ban recruitment for Ukraine's armed forces - happened several days after Vladimir Putin described the Ukrainian conflict as a “huge geopolitical disaster” as he spoke to the United Nations General Assembly in New York. A slightly shorter edition of the interview was tweeted out by Russia’
