As mentioned above, Social Engineering is also a way to bypass Firewalls. Research shows that because people usually do not expect an attack to be successful, they are slow to update their networks. Many organizations have unpatched systems where you can get a very high rate of success simply by doing the basics like using a Kali Linux tool called SET, and then using these basic skills to find weak logins, weak passwords, and to compromise the system. By asking a person's name or phone number as their password you can get into most systems. SET comes with a variety of tools, but for this article I am going to use its URL Generator. In order to hack a user's Facebook account, we need some sort of exploit to get access to the victim's Facebook account. Hackers today mostly use the Metasploit (MITM) Framework that is a cross-platform framework for developing and delivering penetration testing tools. It is a free and open-source framework that allows the penetration tester to test the security of any system connected to the Internet by leveraging an intruder's access to a network. The Metasploit Framework consists of many different penetration testing and security assessment tools called modules. In this tutorial we will cover how the hackers hack Facebook with Kali Linux and SET(Social Engineering Toolkit).
