I've even worked at a nice place in Colorado called the "Iceberg" for a few years. In that time I photographed over 1.5 million images. I have been using Photoshop CS6. My understanding of CS6 was great but I noticed over time that it was becoming very buggy. It was seriously slowing me down. You can also apply special effects to individual layers and change their opacity, blend modes, and more. Photoshop opened my eyes to the world of digital imaging and changed my career.
