The Pixel Preview feature in Photoshop is now partly integrated with Adobe XD CC 2018. While working with images of the same size and resolution shows the their identical counterparts in a more concise way, moving from the pixel-level preview to the design mode allows users to make adjustments in Adobe XD while checking the results instantly. In the update, the ability to embed social media posts on web pages is now a standard function in the program, with the option of manually editing different social media platforms and including users' usernames, links to their social media profiles, and Skype IDs. For additional information, please visit the technology release notes Photoshop CC 2018 also adds a new batch processing workflow to speed up the output at the end of designing. As the name suggests, it allows users to perform a batch of actions from import, enhancement, and tweening. It also allows users to put multiple presets in one keyboard shortcut. The tool will automatically identify and fine-tune settings on finished images and return desirable presets for forthcoming projects. Among the new features in Photoshop CC 2018 is the introduction of parallel specification in the Layers palette. When we click on the Layers palette icon and look into the drop down menu, we can see the parallel specification being activated. This means that any effects applied on a particular layer remain active regardless of the position of the layer on the document.
